Warriors: Dawn Of War (Fan-Fic)

There was a deep silence over the clans... the ancient clans were always in war. But this time..... its the biggest war yet.

"ATTACK!!!", The leader of Dragonclan yowled as he led his clan against the great Warclan. The clans were driven out with only few survivors who later created..... the new clans.

(Sunclan, Moonclan, Frostclan, and Fireclan)

Prologue

*It was a quiet sunny morning as Greenleaf was slowly coming to an en*d..

Fireflower's heavy breathing was stopped by a dream.

War has come and will destroy

She woke up staring at the ground...

"What could this mean.." She whispered.

Chapter 1: A New Kit

Bloodkit bounded over to Hawkkit and his unopened eyes.

"Cmon open your eyes there's lots to see!" Bloodkit, Dragonstar's son shouted.

"Brother can't you wait untill im ready.. "

"But Vinepaw is having his warrior ceremony!!!"

"Wow really?!"

Hawkkit slowly opened his eyes.

"Follow me," he said as he bounded out of the nursery without Goldenfur's permission.

Hawkkit followed untill they were in front of the Greatrock.

"Wow!", Hawkkit said, "I bet our father can see for miles up there!"

"I can imagine!"

The kits tried to look to the top as the huge rock towered over their tiny bodies.

"VINEWHISKER IS NOW A WARRIOR AND WILL SIT VIGIL TONIGHT!!!" Dragonstar yowled.

"Vinewhisker! Vinewhisker!" Everyone chanted.

"Wow I want to be a warrior just like him!"

"Me too!"

The kits went to greet the new warrior, but Goldenfur called them over.

"Cmon it's getting a bit late don't you think?"

She groomed the kits and put them to sleep.

Hawkkit couldn't help but to have a dream...

Chapter 2: The Dream of A Warrior

Hawkkit dreamed of being just like his father a great and noble leader strong and awesome. Hawkkit woke up with a yawn.

"Bloodkit do you want to explore the clan?"

"Sure!" Bloodkit squeaked.

"Lets go before the elders wake up cmon!"

Hawkkit bounded over to Goldenfur to tell her they were leaving.

"Hawkkit she's sleeping she'll never know!"

"Ok..."

"Lets go to the warriors den first."

They ran over to the Warriors den, but they ran into Tigerpaw!

"What do you think you're doing kit?" Tigerpaw growled.

"Um.. well we were going to the Warriors den to explore."

"It doesn't look like it you're going straight to the Greatrock." He hissed.

"Well we're new here and you don't have to be so rude." Hawkkit squealed.

"We're sorry we bumped into you! Bye!" They said as they bounded off to the actual Warriors den.

They looked back and saw Tigerpaw with rage burning in his eyes.

"What gives." Bloodkit said as he looked back and lashed his tail.

"I wonder when we'll become apprentices."

When they arrived at the Warriors den everyone stared in disgust.

"What are kits doing in the Warriors den!?", Cloudfire grumbled.

"Oh, I'm sorry if we disturbed you.. we only wanted to see how the den looks." Hawkkit said.

"Its ok sweetie I suggest you come back to the nursery though before Goldenfur wonders where you are." Smokepelt purred.

"Ok..." They mumbled

"Have a nice day!" She said.

They bounded off to the nursery.

"I was wondering where you were!" Goldenfur said "Your only 2 moons you can't go bounding off!"

"When do *w*e get to be apprentices :c" They said "Its been forever!"

"Forever is a long time... You'll be apprentices as soon as you know it!"

The words echoed in Hawkkits head...

Chapter 3: A Different Kind of Evil

Prologue #2 x3 srry guys I didnt feel that this would fit in with the first prologue, but this is how they met demon..... enjoy!

Foxtail ran off to go on a solo hunting trip.

He was looking through the bushes for prey when he smelled an unfamiliar scent...

"Who's here?" He asked.

"Don't you know?..."

"... I'm the one to bring destruction to the clans"

"Reveal yourself!"

The mysterious cat slowly walked out

"Here I am."

He looked up with anger in his eyes.

"I am Demon... FEAR ME."

"Why??" Foxtail cried in laughter "You're the size of an apprentice!"

"Your clan killed my father and I dont stop with you I destroy clans whole..."

"HAWKKIT SHALL NOW BE KNOWN AS HAWKPAW UNTILL HE RECIEVES HIS WARRIOR NAME! SMOKEPELT SHALL BE YOU'RE MENTOR!"

Hawkpaw licked his mentors shoulder

"Training starts tomorrow at dawn" She said.

"I can't believe it! Im finally an apprentice!"

Hawkpaw heard something behind him.

"Hey do you know where Foxtail is?" Ravenfeather said.

"No I think he said he went on a hunting patrol..." Stormstrike replied.

"Well its nearly sundown he should be back by now!"

Hawkpaw and Bloodpaw walked off to the Apprentices den to check it out and rest.

Chapter 4: Warrior Training

"Wake up! Its time to train to be a warrior!" Smokepelt meowed.

"Already??" He yawned.

"C'mon Bloodpaw is already to the training camp!"

They padded over and for the first time; Hawkpaw was amazed at how big it was! There was a battle arena and a training course! Hawkpaw bounded over to where Bloodpaw was sparring with his mentor Talon a former rogue found on the edge of Sunclan territory.

"What should we practice first.." Smokepelt thought. "We might as well go look at the clan borders."

"Sure!"

They walked to the stream and saw Frostclan catching fish on the other side.

"This is the border for Frostclan they eat lots of fish"

"Wow, they're so plump!"

"Yeah, we chase their fat little bodies all the time, they're so slow!" She laughed

They started to walk over to the Fireclan border but cats were already there...

"Blazestar?!"

Blazestar and two other of his warriors were with him. He raced over with furious eyes.

"Its Moonclan.. They teamed with Frostclan they're going to attack at Sunset!!"

"What?!"

"They think we were planning to invade sometime but they wanted to make sure we were weak.."

"That's not good I'll report this to Dragonstar we'll be over there soon."

Blazestar dashed off to get back to his growing clan.

"We'll finish training tomorrow this is big," She explained.

"Fine.." He knew he wouldn't be able to join due to no training for battle yet. They raced back to Dragonstar's den where he was talking to another cat!

"Dragonstar this is urgent! Moonclan is attacking!"

"I'll make a battle patrol right now."

Dragonstar got up and gathered a group of 6 Warriors to fight Cloudfire, Talon, Smokepelt, Sunfall, Firetail, and Stormstrike. He lashed his tail to gather them and follow behind him; they didn't have to walk far because Fireclan's border is right in front of the clans hunting grounds. Moonclan and Frostclan territory surround Fireclan's part of the forest so they could easily invade. Once they reached the camp they yowled as they saw cats from all sides jump into battle; they jumped in and separated Moonclan and Frostclan from Fireclan from each other. Dragonstar and Talon worked side by side as the strongest warriors in the clan. LIKE A BOSS :D. They took down Moonstar together and asked him about why he planned this.

"I didn't plan this my war mastermind thought this up." He growled.

"Who?"

"..... DEMON.."

Chapter 5: The War That Began All Wars

"Demon?? Who's that?"

"You should be afraid..."

"Why?"

"He promised destruction to the clans. He wants you dead the most."

"Grr... I won't let him!" Talon yowled.

Talon lunged at Moonstar and Moonstar dodged.

"My clan joined with Warclan... they said they'll let us help."

"Why?!... Warclan is back!...."

"Don't be too scared he already assassinated your friend.... he's coming for you next."

Dragonstar clawed him across the face. Fireflower came to Fireclan with some herbs to heal the hurt cats. She saw them fighting and came right over. She was blushing! Moonstar had an embarassed look on his face and started to blush too. His expression faded and rage started to flare in his eyes.

"Why are you here!" He whispered. "no one can see that holding back against you. Especially if they want me to kill you"

"shh..." She said "It'll be ok. I'm leaving soon."

"When can I see you again?! Our clans are in war."

"Greattree at dawn."

"See you there..."

(If you want to see some drawings of the cats and couples of this story go to my dA gallery! The link is on my profile page.)

The story continues....

The Battle patrol came back with bad injuries.. Fireflower was sitting outside her den waiting for cats to line up for healing. She had a sad/embarrassed look on her face.

"I have a bad scratch on my shoulder" Cloudfire complained.

"I'll get to you" She replied.

The line slowly depleted until just Sunfall was left.

"What's hurting you?" Fireflower asked.

"Nothing... It's just.."

"hm?"

"Nevermind.."

Does Sunfall know my secret?! She thought..

Chapter 6: Threats Upon The Clans

It has been a moon since the terrifying war and all of Sunclan has started to revive. Wounds started to heal and only few had major injuries; they were treated immediately and were starting to heal, too. Moonclan and Frostclan retreated; they just wanted to weaken the clans. Sunclan still remained the strongest, but Frostclan was close; close enough to destroy us. Now it was 3 against 1, a battle that couldn't be won. Would Sunclan and Fireclan be forced out? With Warclan growing we only get weaker as Leafbare approaches.

Hawkpaw left the apprentices den hoping to go on at least a hunting patrol, but no one even stirred. The clan was silent as the first snow specs slowly floated down in front of our eyes.

"We're doomed." Sunfall croaked, "between Leafbare and the war we'll never make it out alive."

"Don't lose hope." Dragonstar meowed, "we will survive."

The group of cats sat there shivering in the icy weather. Then they all looked up at the stars for answers from Shineclan (Ancient Starclan), their warrior ancestors, when cats died they join Shineclan.

What could they possibly do? Fireclan was their only ally.

As dawn approached, the clan waited patiently. After Cloudfire's injuries, it seems like he would be joining the elders den soon, but Sunclan needs as many warriors as possible. After all, Cloudfire is pretty old anyway. Also, only Fireflower knew, but Dragonstar, only had 2 lives left! How could he protect his clan? Hawkpaw's mentor, Smokepelt, has been injured during the battle, so he can't get the training he needs to help his clan. Could he be the hero?

He wanted to be as good as his dad was, but he couldn't without warrior training. Bloodpaw woke up to the sound of birds and stretched; his mentor was fine and sturdy as always, so he would get farther on his training. Bloodpaw loved his mentor, he was strong and loyal and one of Dragonstar's friends. Bloodpaw learned a lot from him and followed his every movement; even if he became evil. His brother and him have been apprentices for 1 and a half moons now, which means they are pretty far from becoming warriors. Bloodpaw padded alongside his mentor to the training shore by the river.

"What are we going to practice today?" Bloodpaw asked.

Talon was silent.

Was he planning something?

Chapter 7: I'm not putting in anymore titles.. x3

Leafbare continued and Sunclan was still covered in snow. Just recently, Roseki, the only kit in the nursery, died from a cold. Rosekit was very weak to begin with; her poor mother knew this would eventually happen. The clan mourned as snowflakes kept falling, burying Rosekit. Her mother stayed the whole night and buried her alone. One by one, Hawkpaw thought, this whole clan will be injured. Will they have enough warriors to fight Warclan, Moonclan, and Frostclan together?! Even those clans surviving the Leafbare. Tonight was Hawkpaw's first Gather (Gather is just gathering) How could the other clans follow the truce when they've been in war for moons? Smokepelt recovered from her injuries and is taking Hawkpaw to battle training after the Gather. Dragonstar grouped all of the cats coming and left behind a lot of cats, you never know what they could do. Would Warclan come to the Gather too? Are they plotting to stay behind and damage the clan? They had to be protective, so they left behind more than half of their cats!

Hawkpaw joined the rest of the clan and started walking. "This is so exciting!" He thought. His brother padded up to his side.

"Do you want to train with me when we get back?" Bloodpaw asked.

"Sure! I'd love to try and compete against you and see how far you've gotten."

Bloodpaw had a suspicious glare in his eyes as of his mentor planned this. They reached the sandy hollow and only Fireclan was there...

"What's going on?" Dragonstar asked, "is this a trick?"

Blazestar yowled, "How could they break Shineclan's law??"

They hallow was quiet then, everyone started mumbling.

The leaves shuddered. Who was there?

Chapter 8

A small pure white Tom the size of an apprentice with blood permanently stained on his right paw slowly walked out of the bushes.

"Welcome" The small cat sneered, "to yet another trap"

Yowls echoed from behind them startling the cats.

"What have you done??" Dragonstar hissed. "Why is this necessary, you broke the law of Shineclan!"

"It's necessary if you wish to take over using revenge like me."

"...."

"Remember my Father??" Demon yowled "You killed him."

Dragonstar instantly saw the resemblance between the cat who he met on the border with him, they must've had a strong bond. Who knows what he could do he is now leader of Warclan after his dad.

"You remember your best friend Foxtail? Well hes dead and so will the rest of your clan!"

"No..." Dragonstar shuddered, "you don't have to do this... your father was a bad man and broke the code.. he needed punishment."

"Death is a punishment?? How could someone do something so bad to deserve death?!"

Demon growled; he was obviously angered at Dragonstar's nonsense. He padded off into the forest and called back his warriors.

"This is a warning you will never forget!" Demon yowled. He and his army padded off to his secret camp outside of forest bounds.

Dragonstar rushed back to camp with the small group of cats with him hoping nobody has died.

"I'll see you soon for a war meeting Blazestar!"

He rushed through the forest and the undergrowth got deeper and deeper until they reached camp. They all rushed down the slope only to see blood scattered everywhere.

This means war.

Cliffhanger. :3

Chapter 9

Hawkpaw gasped at the sight of all the blood, he could tell many cats had died, even the most important warriors. This is the peak of our doom, he thought. Dragonstar scanned the camp; Fireflower returned to camp carrying herbs in her jaws.

"Any serious injuries?" Dragonstar asked.

"You know that's a mousebrained question." Fireflower replied.

Dragonstar padded looking for cats that were still moving, "They must've brought they're whole camp." Dragonstar said.

He noticed Cloudfire and Leopardfoot dead on the floor "They fought bravely", he thought. Then, he looked near the nursery and noticed Firetail wasn't moving.

"Fireflower quick!" He yowled

Fireflower ran over with some herbs in her jaws. She gasped.

"I'll be right back."

When she returned she had cobwebs, thyme, for shock, and juniper berries to heal the wound. Then, a healthy warrior followed her and helped her carry extra marigold.

Fireflower sighed, "He's on the brink of death he might be joining Starclan soon if I don't hurry."

Fireflower patched the herbs on a deep wound on Firetail's belly. Then, she patched up a torn ear and part of his muzzle. He was losing blood quick. Fireflower patched cobwebs all over him.

"Now we can only hope he survives." Fireflower said.

Firetail's tail twitched.

"He's in a coma" She continued.

Next, she fed thyme to Firetail in hopes it will soothe him and she also fed him juniper berries.

"We can't move him until he wakes up"

Fireflower left him there and started treating the cats with serious injuries. She noticed Sunfall had deep gashes on his side. Fireflower chewed up some marigold and put it on his wound.

"I saw you with Moonstar today" Sunfall whispered. "even if you are his friend he will choose clan over love."

"No.. I know he wouldn't." Fireflower mumbled to herself. "That can't be true.."

Chapter 10

Yay!! 10 Chapters I will try and get more of the story done faster so that you don't have to wait. :D

Dawn was approaching as Hawkpaw arose.

He noticed something was wrong... Tigerpaw was missing from his bed. Where was he? Hawkpaw thought. Hawkpaw stretched and slowly padded out of his den; the sunshine felt good on his pelt. Smokepelt was waiting for him in the hollow.

"Good morning," she purred.

"You too."

"Do you want to join the dawn patrol? They're leaving right now."

"Sure."

Finally, a way to prove myself, he thought. His final assessment was next moon, but he could hardly wait and he wanted to impress his mentor. Sunfall gathered all the warriors and flicked his tail goodbye. Sunfall wasn't going to join the patrol due to the deep gashes on his side. Hawkpaw started to think about the war again. Did Tigerpaw join Warclan??

It was possible, but not certain. Are they planning on ambushing our patrol?

"Wake up!" Goldenfur snapped, "we're leaving on patrol."

"Sorry" He mumbled.

They rushed through the forest to Fireclan's border. All was clear; as always. Then, they walked toward Frostclan's border and noticed something was wrong.

"I smell strange cats." Talon growled.

"Warclan?" Smokepelt suggested.

Suddenly, two strange cats appeared. Then, another smaller cat walked out.

"Tigerpaw?" Hawkpaw asked.

"It's Tiger now." Tiger hissed.

Tiger lunged at Hawkpaw, but Hawkpaw dodged.

"What are you doing??"

"Ambushing you fool."

Hawkpaw slashed at his nose and blood started to well out.

Then, a whole crowd of cats padded out of the brambles. That was probably half of the clan! They needed to get back-up. They're leader, Ivy, padded up to them.

"We're telling you are plan." She hissed. "Next moon, at dawn, we will attack with all of our clan unless you allow us to destroy your clan leader and deputy, right in front of your eyes."

"Never!" Talon yowled

"So be it." Ivy growled "You'll be sorry."

Chapter 11

Fireflower sneaked out through the dirt place hollow. Was anyone watching?, she thought. She let her apprentice Mistpaw take over the injured cats while she was gone. She needed to visit Moonstar before it was too late. Dusk was approaching and slowly swallowing the Sun. She glanced around and then dashed off over the border. She had to pass through Fireclan territory to get to Moonclan. She crossed through the rest of the forest. Then, she finally reached the moorland of Moonclan. She waited until a patrol escorted her in. She smelled familiar scents.

"Welcome Fireflower," Frozenstep said.

"Hello."

Moonstar padded beside her from the bushes.

"Don't worry I told my clan you were coming I used an excuse; I said you were bringing herbs. They won't suspect a thing." Moonstar whispered.

Fireflower walked beside Moonstar.

"Follow me" He whispered.

Fireflower nodded her head and Moonstar lead her into the open moorland. They both stared up at the stars. Moonstar twined his tail with hers.

"You know we can't be together much longer. The war is far too fierce."

"I know.."

Moonstar licked her ear. Firestar looked at the moon and noticed it was covered by clouds. This must be a sign from Ancient Shineclan, we cannot be together, she thought. Moonstar glanced at her.

"I know your thinking about leaving." He said as a purr rumbled in his throat, "I can't take it anymore."
"I'm leaving. Good bye, Moonstar, I'm sorry."

Chapter 12

"Hawkpaw you will now be known as Hawkflight!", Dragonstar yowled.

A purr rumbled in Hawkflight's throat. Bloodfang was just made a warrior with him; they would be sitting vigil tonight under the stars. Goldenfur just recently had a new litter of kits and they would become apprentices soon. Also, everyone from the battle started to recover, even Firetail. Goldenflower came up to them, pride welling in her chest, she rubbed her muzzle against theirs while suppressing a light purr. LARRY (Don't mind this blurt of randomness.) Applekit, Daisykit, and Honeykit were 4 1/2 moons old.

Dragonstar dismissed the clan as he leaped off the Greatrock and headed toward his kits.

"I'm so proud of you." He mewed.

Bloodfang puffed out his chest in pride.

"Would you like to join the Noon patrol?" He continued.

"Sure." They both said.

Sunfall gathered Bloodfang, Hawkflight, Talon, and Smokepelt for the patrol. They set off before the sun went down. Hawkflight followed the leader of the patrol, Talon, to the Fireclan border. Dragonstar had just recently talked with Blazestar about the war and they think they can come up with a plan. Hawkflight stopped at the border and waited for Talon to command them. Talon just peered over the border and waited.

"I smell something." Talon said.

"I smell it, too." Smokepelt said.

Ivy walked out of the bushes.

"I'm warning you, you have 2 more days."

Since the first warning, Dragonstar had made everyone train, even the warriors.

"We know," Talon growled "We've been preparing."
"Preparing won't be enough." Ivy hissed.

Chapter 13

Light flickered in Hawkflight's den as he woke up upon returning from the patrol. He squinted his eyes, they only had 1 more day to prepare. What did she mean by "preparing isn't enough." Do they have a trick up their sleeve? Or are they trying to look strong. These questions would be answered in little time. Dragonstar told his brother and him not to have vigil because they needed all the rest they could get.
The Dawn of War is approaching.

Hawkflight had a vision. Cats fighting. Cats dying.

"No." He whispered.

Nobody could control what lay ahead for it was the clans destiny. Would this lead to another destruction of all the clans? Hawkflight shook his head and continued out of the den. Dragonstar was waiting for him outside of the den.

" Sunfall is dead." He choked. "One of Demon's minions killed him last night."

What? Who would Dragonstar choose as the next deputy? There are only 6 warriors in the clan!

" I want you to be my deputy." He meowed .
Hawkflight stared at him. He hasn't trained an apprentice yet! Has the clan really gone this desperate?

"I know what you're thinking, but the clan needs you . Just look at them. They need a young and healthy deputy."

" I would be honored ."

"You do know I only have 2 lives left, right?" He whispered.

A New leader would be rising soon.
